

Concentrating the dissemination of news in the hands of the few limits availability of news and undermines access to opinions. It is, in my opinion, not very different from book burning.